Session 1 Learner Summary — Template DRAFT

IM Residency Coaching Program

Pending Dr. Bagavathy's markup of the coach summary (the "visible to learner / not visible to learner" annotations). Per the September 22 discussion: the learner version shares uniform language with the coach summary — same goals, same wording — but is concise, reads organically, and contains no checklist and no coach notes. The learner shouldn't feel they were walked through a rubric.

Design rules for this version

- Same words for the shared content. Goals, next steps, and the session date are copied verbatim from the coach summary — never re-paraphrased — so the two documents can't drift apart. That's the whole point: one shared understanding.
- Organic tone, second person. It reads as "here's what we talked about," not "here's your evaluation."
- Short. One page. The learner reviews it in two minutes, confirms or requests changes, done.
- No checklist, no timestamps, no coach-only notes. Those live in the coach summary only.

Coaching Session Summary — for [Learner first name]

Session	1 of 4 — Strengths & Vision
With	[Coach name]
Date	[Date]

What we talked about

[2–3 sentences, warm and descriptive: the shape of the conversation — getting acquainted, your background, what this coaching relationship is for. Identical in substance to the coach summary's overview, minus any process language.]

Your strengths

[The strengths that resonated most with you and why, in your own words — e.g., "Honesty stood out to you: being honest with yourself about strengths and weaknesses first, and honest with the people you work with." Include anything that surprised you, if discussed.]

Your vision for the year

[The Best Possible Self picture you described — what the best version of this PGY-1 year looks like by June, what you'd be proud of, what excites you. Learner's own words where possible.]

Your goal before we meet again

> Goal: [Exact goal wording from the coach summary — verbatim]
> You'll know you got there when: [Exact success measure — verbatim]

What we each agreed to do

- You: [Learner's action items, verbatim from coach summary]
- [Coach first name]*: [Coach's action items, verbatim]

Next session

[Date/time if scheduled; otherwise "To be scheduled — (who) will send the invite."]

Does this reflect our conversation?

> Please read this over and let me know either way:
>
> □ Yes — this is a fair reflection, including my goal as I meant it.
>
> □ Mostly — with changes: [what to correct, add, or remove]
>
> You can ask for anything here to be corrected or removed before this is finalized and added to your coaching file. Once you confirm, this becomes our shared reference point for Session 2.

Generated from the session transcript; reviewed by your coach before being shared with you.
